

Queen's Health Sciences Students' Association:

2009-2010 Schedule of Events

November 2009

Inter-professional Pub Social

A night where students from Queen's professional health programs can get together in an informal social setting.

Queen's Local Health Care Team Challenge

3 teams of 6 students representing professional health programs will compete for a spot to compete at the provincial competition at McMaster University in March at the National Health and Science Student Association (NaHSSA) conference.

January - March 2010

"Current Issues in Health" Speaker Series

Starting at the end of January until mid-March, this 8-week series will feature a different speaker each week on a variety of current "hot" topics that are not represented in the curriculum. Topics include mental health, naturopathy, traditional Chinese medicine, Canada's health economics, military medicine, family health teams, and northern and Aboriginal health. Participants come from all professional health departments and will have a chance to work in inter-disciplinary teams on weekly case studies pertaining to the topic.

March

Wine and Cheese Spring Social

Informal night in second semester where students and faculty from Queen's professional health programs get together.

NaHSSA Conference

Winning local HCTC team will represent Queen's at the NaHSSA conference.

March / April 2010

High School Outreach Program

QHSSA members visit various local high schools to provide insight to students regarding the various health science programs and health professions.
